Abstract:
Poseidona is a Spanish marine biotech company turning seaweed biomass into natural, whole-extract ingredients for the nutraceutical and cosmetic industries. Our hydrolysis process gently extracts and preserves a spectrum of naturally occurring compounds instead of isolating a single molecule, and avoids harsh chemicals. Our two lead ingredients are OnaProt, a marine protein extract, and OnaGut, a prebiotic oligosaccharide complex, with commercial batches planned from 2027. The process has been validated at pilot scale (200 L reactors) and we are now preparing the step to industrial production. We are raising a seed round to industrialise production, advance our regulatory strategy and open commercial partnerships in Europe and Korea. We are looking for investors, industrial partners and scale-up facilities.
